

I turned to satellite radio to receive the kind of programming that was not offered by my local broadcasters. I would regard any reduction mandated by Congress to the services I currently receive via satellite radio as an egregious interference to free speech. I would be all the more angered to know the reduction in service came at the behest of the National Association of Broadcasters through their well-funded lobbying efforts. If the NAB succeeds Congress will have sold out the rights of the many to unethically protect the business concerns of the moneyed interests that add to campaign coffers solely to receive this sort of royal treatment. How very typical and how very undemocratic.
